World Café Format & Process

- Tables will be set up representing each precinct, with one host/facilitator per table.
- Host to begin by explaining the exercise and setting the context. For each precinct, the following questions to be discussed:
  1. What user groups will be interested in using this space/place?
  2. What activities could be included in this space/place?
  3. What infrastructure or facilities would be required to support these activities?
- At the end of the 20 minutes, each member of the group moves to the next table – from an organisational point of view, a clockwise movement around the tables is desirable, however attendees may approach the themes in a different manner, as long as everyone aims to sit at all four precinct tables and maintains the relevant social distancing observations.
- The host remains at the same table where they will welcome the next group, briefly fill them in on what happened in the previous round and ask the same three questions. Where new responses are provided by the group, these will be recorded on the workshop sheets. Where responses are provided consistent with the previous group/s, these are tallied on the workshop sheet (similar to a voting system).
- Repeat the above until all four precincts have been visited.
- Once complete, the host/facilitator will be invited to share the key findings (i.e. top 5 results) from their conversations to the room.
